

RemedyBio's CEO Dan Crowley will be chairing a panel discussion 'How single cell phenotyping will transform genomics and discovery' during the Single Cell Genomics Track at the upcoming BioTechX conference in Basel on October 4th.

BioTechX brings together Data, AI, Precision & Innovation, bridging the gap between pharma, academia and clinicians to foster meaningful collaborations across Europe and globally.

Please reach out here to connect with us at the conference.

